New Accounting Standards for Private Enterprises Available

Private enterprises now have accounting standards that have been developed specifically for them. They can benefit by early adoption or waiting until 2011. Alternatively, private enterprises can choose to adopt International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRSs). This article provides information about the key changes in the new standards for private enterprises and how to make the transition to these new standards easy.

Getting Familiar with new Canadian Accounting Standards for Private Enterprises

January 14, 2009 at 12:30 pm Eastern

Take part in a free webinar designed to aid both practitioners and private enterprises in understanding the new standards for Canadian private enterprises. Private enterprises adopting the new accounting standards will benefit greatly from improving their understanding of the similarities and the differences between the existing standards and the new standards, which become mandatory on January 1, 2011.

For anyone considering early adoption, find out more about the one-time transitional provisions in Section 1500 for First-time adoption.

This webinar series is sponsored by Robert Half International.
